Ilene M. Spector, D.O. – Osteopathic Physician – 277 Blackstock Drive, Unit A

Specializing in Osteopathic Manual Medicine. Osteopathic and homeopathic physician with a general medical practice, specializing in osteopathic manual medicine. A unique and highly specific, skilled form of medical treatment, involving very gentle touch. Offers an answer to many problems that have not resolved with conventional medical, surgical or other therapeutic treatments. Comfortable, relaxing and non-traumatic, and addresses the body as an individualized whole. Osteopathic treatments are appropriate for people of all ages from newborns on up, and helpful for a variety of medical complaints, recovery from injuries and traumas, and various pain syndromes. In-depth medical understanding of anatomy, physiology and pathology is applied to a unique form of gentle hands-on treatment that can change how the body functions and restore health. I have practiced homeopathic and natural medicine since 1974, osteopathic medicine since 1989, and teach physicians nationwide. Osteopathic physicians are fully trained and licensed physicians, equal to MD's. In addition to osteopathic treatments as my main form of medical care, I may recommend other types of treatment from my knowledge of both conventional and integrative medicine.
